RAYMOND K. BERG . . .
petition falsified?

BERNARD S. NEISTEIN . . .
under investigation

FAITH MCINTURF . . .
under indictment

JOSEPH W. NOWAK . . .
convicted of embezzling

HAROLD WASHINGTON . . .
cheated IRS

EDWARD V. HANRAHAN . . .
indicted for conspiracy

Sure you want a 'Top 10' license plate?

IF YOU THINK it might be great to have one of those prestigious first-10 Illinois license plates, maybe you had better think again!

Three out of the "Top 10" license-plate holders have been connected with official misconduct. One is facing trial for race track stock hanky-panky, one is being investigated by federal tax agents, and the third was an associate of a former secretary of state, the late Paul [Shoebox] Powell.

And a fourth is the wife of a former governor once deeply involved in state scandals.

Judge Otto Kerner of the United States Appeals Court here holds auto license plate No. 2 [Gov. Ogilvie's wife has No. 1]. A former governor, Kerner is under indictment for alleged race track stock deals, as are a handful of other politicians and former state officials.

Illinois' No. 5 license plate belongs to State Sen. Arthur Bidwill [R., River Forest], whose enormous profits in secretly-held track stock have attracted the interest of federal tax agents, among others.

No. 6 belongs to Mrs. Marge Hensey, Powell's former executive secretary, who was involved in the colorful politico's tangled financial affairs.

And license plate No. 7 is issued to Mrs. Shirley Stratton, wife of former governor William G. Stratton, who finally won acquittal on charges of failing to pay income taxes.